ABSTRACT

This publication briefly reports the findings of a second annual (1982-83) survey, which measured the status of computer use to identify problems and needs in the Louisiana educational community for use by the Department of Education in designing activities to aid the state's schools in effective computer use. Data are included from a survey instrument which was returned by 1,079 public and nonpublic Louisiana schools. Currently 345 of the responding schools are using computers in instruction. A summary of findings, which includes seven data tables, is followed by conclusions and recommendations. The major part of the report comprises appendices that are designed to enable educators to locate schools using similar computers in similar areas in order to share ideas, educational software, and hardware information. Included are the survey instrument and an indication of the grade levels and subject areas in which schools reported using computers, a list showing the make and model of computer used listed by school, and a list by computer make of the schools using specific computers. # THE USE OF THE COMPUTER IN LOUISIANA SCHOOLS

INTRODUCTION

The proliferation of computers in Louisiana schools is accelerating at an astounding rate. The Department of Education is making a concentrated effort to develop its role in providing information and guidance to the teachers and administrators. The current status of the use of computers in our Louisiana schools was measured to identify problems and needs in our educational community in order that the Department could design its activities to aid Louisiana schools in the effective use of computers. This publication briefly reports on the findings of the second annual survey. Any questions regarding the analyses of these surveys should be directed to Dr. John Hubbell or Ms. Shirley McCandless at (504) 342-0090. The results of the first survey are described in Bulletin 1679 of May 1982.

THE POPULATION

There are currently 1,527 public schools and 424 nonpublic schools in the State of Louisiana. The public schools are distributed among 66 Local Education Agencies (LEA's). In 1981-1982 the Superintendent of each LEA was contacted by the SDE, and a short survey instrument was designed to be mailed to the individual designated by each LEA Superintendent as Instructional Computing Coordinator. The data were analyzed. For the 1982-1983 school year a similar survey instrument was added to the Office of Academic Program's Annual School Report, which is sent to all public and nonpublic schools.

THE INSTRUMENT

The survey instrument (see Appendix A) was designed to capture information on the instructional use of the computer in the schools.

FINDINGS

Of the 1,439 public schools and 393 nonpublic schools reached by the Annual Report forms, 1,079 schools responded. Of the 66 LEA's involved, 56 have microcomputers in one or more schools. In the first year's survey, 40 LEA's had microcomputers in one or more schools. Currently, 345 of the responding schools are using computers in instruction, and 731 are not (Table 1). The distribution of instructional computing across grades (Table 2), shows that all grade levels--K through 12--are involved, with the most involvement at the highest grade level. Table 3 shows the distribution of computer use across subject areas. Note that the computer is used most in mathematics courses.

The Tandy Corporation computers were the most widely used computers (Table 4). There were more TRS-80's than all other makes combined. The Tandy computers represented 57 percent of the units, and Apple came next with 22 percent. A total of 1,373 computers was reported by the schools in October of 1982 compared to 482 in January 1982; in less than one year, the number increased almost threefold.

The numbers of schools employing the computer in the following functional areas are listed from most used to least used in Table 5. Computer Science, Computer Assisted Instruction, and Computer Awareness Instruction were one, two, and three in numbers of schools. However, in ranking of usefulness, Administrative Functions is the use considered most important by the schools responding (Table 6).

Of major interest was the evaluation of the needs in the schools. Inservice Teacher Training was clearly considered the most important need, with 67 percent of the repondents ranking inservice training as the number one need. Equipment and software information ranked second and third in importance (Table 7).

THE USE OF THE COMPUTER IN LOUISIANA SCHOOLS

CONCLUSIONS

This study indicated that the number of computers in our schools has almost tripled in less than one year. It is clear that the introduction of the computer into our Louisiana schools has occurred. A large portion of our educational community has embraced this technological aid by providing both equipment and programs on their own initiative at the LEA level. However, most repondents felt that there was a strong need for information on using the computers and information on available software and hardware.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The Louisiana Department of Education has begun providing assistance in this area. The Department is providing more assistance through increasing activities in the following areas:

1. Computer Awareness Workshops for teachers and administrators.

2. Preparation and distribution of information packages, using all available media, about (a) instructional uses of the computer, (b) guidelines for acquisition of microcomputer hardware and software, and (c) guidelines for integrating use of the computer into the curricula of the schools.

3. Establishment of a statewide network of Instructional Computing Resource Centers (ICRC) in which the ICRC within the Department can aid in the orchestration of developing and distributing instructional computing resources and services to the educational community.

4. Participation on a State level in regional and national educational computing organizations that develop and distribute instructional software.

5. Establishment of a structure and process to continue to identify problems and the changing needs in this area. The recent formation of a statewide task force on computer literacy represents a beginning in this area.

The microcomputer is in our homes and schools. The Department's active guidance in instructional computing is needed to encourage minimal waste and confusion and maximal benefits from this technological aid to education.

APPENDICES AND THEIR USES

The appendices are designed to enable educators to locate schools using similar computers in similar areas in order to share ideas, educational materials, software, and hardware information. Appendix A shows the survey instrument.

Appendix B indicates in which grade levels and subject areas schools reported using computers. The schools are listed within parish within type. The left most column contains the name of the school. The other columns represent grade levels K through 12 and the subject areas. A nonblank character in a column indicates that the school listed reported using the computer in that grade level or subject area.

Appendix C shows the make and model of computer listed by school. Appendix D shows the schools using computers listed by make. If a teacher in Caddo Parish is planning to use the computer in a business class, Appendix B would be used to locate schools in Caddo and neighboring parishes that are using computers in business classes. Appendix C provides information about the make and model of the computers used by those schools. Appendix D allows users of a particular make or computer system to locate other schools using the same system.
